Smith, N. N. (2017). Every math learner: A doable approach to teaching with learning differences in mind, grades K–5. Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin.

Course Description

The purpose of this course is to help you gain a deeper understanding of factors to consider when differentiating instruction, understand what differentiation is and is not, and help students progress based on their individual needs. You'll leave with practical approaches to teaching for learning differences and insights into achieving doable daily differentiation for ALL students in K–5 classrooms.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, you will be able to

- Describe categories that make learners unique
- Describe the characteristics of a differentiated lesson
- Identify students in terms of readiness, interest, and learning profile

Course Outline

This course is self-paced. However, if you are taking this course for graduate credit, please be aware of the due date of the final assignment, as this must be met in order to receive credit.

Key Dates

Many students find the courses most rewarding if they work through at a steady pace, setting aside dedicated time to take the course. Completing one module per week is a common goal.
